December 15, 2020

Figuring out what to buy the creative souls in your orbit isn't always easy, especially if you aren't an expert on their craft. But we've got winning gift ideas for painters, photographers, illustrators, casual makers, and everyone in between. Whether your recipient is a master watercolorist or someone who picked up sewing during the pandemic, we've got you covered. (Prices and availability accurate at time of publication.)

A subscription to expertly curated literature

Since 2006 the small press Primary Information has been releasing some of the most engaging and clever artists' books. Send its subscription service to your favorite bookish friend, who will receive at least 11 forthcoming publications, including a collection of writings by Dara Birnbaum and an anthology on the radical Asian-American arts collective Godzilla. Act fast: The first 100 to sign up before December 31 can snag this at a discounted price of $100.

Purchase: Primary Information 2021 Subscription, $100 on Primary Information
