Primary Information Subscription (Starting at $100)

Recommended by: John Vincler, Co-Chief Art Critic and Consulting Editor

A Primary Information annual subscription is the best value, most reliable art purchase I can recommend as a gift (even if it's to yourself). At only $100, it keeps giving throughout the year as each new publication is issued. This year saw stand-out titles like Stay away from nothing documenting the photographs and correspondence exchanged between Peter Hujar and Paul Thek (timed to the release of the film Peter Hujar's Day by Ira Sachs). Or, my favorite, Robert Gober's Slides of a Changing Painting, an artist's book version of a slide presentation documenting a year-long evolution of a single painting Gober painted (and over-painted) on a single Masonite board of his East 7th Street storefront from 1982-83, first shown at Paula Cooper Gallery. PI's list always strikes a just-so balance between new and archival artists' books and writings by artists. I always wanted to own a Gober. And now I do.
